Department analysis:

This analysis should be a maximum of one A4 page long and must address the following:
a) Staff and their contribution to class,	d) Resources available for the department,
b) Research and publication activities,	e) Positive practice and perceived weaknesses in the work of the Department,
c) Percentage of students passing exams and a comparison with results from the previous years	f) Suggestions for improvement,
	g) Activities in ensuring quality.
a) All staff at the department aim to create an easy going and friendly relationship with the students but maintain their authority by setting strict rules in order to preserve discipline so that the students can concentrate and understand the content of courses. Furthermore, staff members make every effort to establish open communication with students and be available for any clarification regarding the course. Lectures are being taught through the usage of various course materials such as PP presentations, whiteboard, textbooks etc. Staff is promoting hands on and learning by doing approach to education. b) Department staff considers research to be as important as their teaching activities, although, due to their daily responsibilities and workload, they do not spend as much time on research activities as they would like. Since the aim of the department is to give chance to young professionals, most of staff members are involved in their master or Phd programs and are performing research activities in their respective areas. Additionally, department was one of the organisers of the annual ISSD conference, and many of our staff members were among the presenters.

- c) Passing rate in the academic 2011/2012 at management department is 78,30%, which is a slightly higher rate in comparison to previous years. Passing rate in 2008-2009 was 75% for the first and 76% for the second term. In academic 2009-2010, passing rate was 77% for the first and 78% for the second term. Passing rate for masters and PhD students at IT department is 95% .
- d) Resources available for the department are at the satisfying level. The greatest lack is in human resources, since the number of staff is not sufficient causing the inadequate reasonableness of work.
- e) Department activities are all conducted in positive atmosphere and constant strive by the staff to improve the performance and quality of their work. One of the greatest positives is that some staff members are highly published authors and members of international professional associations with long teaching practice and business experience.No 'reward – punishment' system is creating a 'de – motivating' atmosphere for the employees. Due to the insufficient staff members there is a tendency in increase of teaching load which impairs the research output.
- f) Create an environment that supports and promotes research, international interaction and more development opportunities for the staff. Enable staff to concentrate more on research activities by increase the number of staff members. Reduce class size at postgraduate studies to provide better quality lectures.
- g) Department aims to introduce, implement and monitor policies and procedures written by IBU Quality Office that will help achieve higher standard of service. At the same time, department management promotes quality culture and recognizes the involvement of all staff members in development of quality assurance.
